

"Field Guide to the Frogs"

Compiled by 'Temcat'

'Their land swarmed with frogs—In the chambers of their kings.'

FROGS! Where do they come from?

"Little by little he has prepared the way for his masterpiece of deception in the development of spiritualism. He has not yet reached the full accomplishment of his designs; but it will be reached in the last remnant of time. Says the prophet:

"I saw three unclean spirits like frogs; come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty." Revelation 16:13,14. Except those who are kept by the power of God, through faith in His word, the whole world will be swept into the ranks of this delusion. The people are fast being lulled to a fatal security, to be awakened only by the outpouring of the wrath of God." GC562

Why frogs?

Some have thought that as the frog catches its prey with its tongue, and the glossolalia movement is part of the charismatic ecumenism, that this is the meaning of the symbol. It could be a minor part of it; but the main point is the 'swarming over the land as in the plague of Egypt'. Notice this quote:

"With the immense tide of printed matter constantly pouring from the press, old and young form the habit of reading hastily and superficially, and the mind loses its power of connected and vigorous thought. Furthermore, a large share of the periodicals and books that, like the frogs of Egypt, are overspreading the land are not merely commonplace, idle, and enervating, but unclean and degrading. Their effect is not merely to intoxicate and ruin the mind, but to corrupt and destroy the soul." AH -PG- 415

"Again the rod was stretched out over the waters, and frogs came up from the river and spread over the land. They overran the houses, took possession of the bed chambers, and even the ovens and kneading troughs. The frog was regarded as sacred by the Egyptians, and they would not destroy it; but the slimy pests had now become intolerable. They swarmed even in the palace of the Pharaohs, and the king was impatient to have them removed. The magicians had appeared to produce frogs, but they could not remove them." PP -PG- 265

Frogs

Yes, they swarm everywhere: people can produce them but no one seems to be able to remove them. The influence of these demon-frogs permeates every aspect of our life: they are in our homes, entertainment, work places, schools, and yes, even in our church!

Note that, as the frogs were considered 'sacred' by the Egyptians, so most of the 'frog phenomena' that is overspreading the land today, is thought to be of God, or merely harmless triviality.

Every additional fad that comes along seems to spread like fire in stubble. Why does it spread so uncontrollably? Because so very few cling to the scriptures anymore; and they are the only frog repellent!

'FIELD GUIDE TO FROGS'

Spring Peepers

One of the first frogs to come into a church is the musical ones. As the peeping of tiny frogs in the early spring heralds their spawning and multiplying in the land, so the introduction of 'beat music' is the entering wedge. The syncopated beat; the 'swing' beat; the emotional 'Praise Choruses' with repetitious and almost meaningless words; the increasing volume and bass throb. This brings on the swaying and toe tapping, the clapping and applause, the partying spirit that pushes out the reverent sense of God's Presence and the Holy Spirit is grieved and the Holy angels cover their faces and depart. As the heavenly depart the unholy swarm in. One symptom is the intolerance of the powerful, old message-filled hymns and their replacement with the emotional and 'doing my thing for God' motif. Sensationalism multiplies- entertainment and amusement oriented programming follow. No one heeds the cry of alarm from a handful of the Godly and their sad forms walking away. It seems a great revival as the worldly flock into the church; but it is all a sad, sad delusion.

Children's Frogs and Pollywogs

It is beyond the scope of a small article to deal with this subject, as volumes could be written on it. I urge all who read this to go to the SOP and prayerfully read the warnings there on reading material and realize it also means movies, videos and recordings. Here is only one example:

"...some had formed the habit of novel reading...To place before this class reading similar to that which they have discarded is like offering intoxicants to the inebriate. Yielding to the temptation continually before them, they soon lose their relish for solid reading. They have no interest in Bible study. Their moral power becomes enfeebled. Sin appears less and less repulsive. There is manifest an increasing unfaithfulness, a growing distaste for life's practical duties. As the mind becomes perverted, it is ready to grasp any reading of a stimulating character. Thus the way is open for Satan to bring the soul fully under his domination." The Adventist Home PG- 414

Frogs

The Bible says 'Whatsoever is true'; if it isn't true friends, throw it out! There is no such thing as a harmless falsehood. Even in Christian circles, Fantasy and foolishness; fiction and falsehood dominate the scene in material intended for children. Talking animals and even vegetables!! Are claimed to be helpful to teach lessons of moral import- then why doesn't God use them in the Bible?? Friends if it isn't true, it's either a frog already or it's a pollywog just waiting to mature into a full-blown frog.

One of the most distressing frog swarms of the past year or so is the terrible outbreak of spiritualism in the 'Harry Potter' books. You may say- "Oh, it is not different than all the other occult rubbish that has been poured into children's minds for decades." There are a few differences that are a cause for alarm, if any spiritual discernment is present.

One is that Satanists see in these books a great boon to their cause to promote Satanism among children and destroy any desire in a child to accept Christianity. They openly rejoice that these books oppose Christ in a very effective way.

On the other hand, Christians are WELCOMING these books and Christian magazines are encouraging parents to buy and read them to their children! I researched on the web and was amazed that hardly a word was raised against this corruption, not even by professed Christian associations. Oh, the Frogs have done their work well! How can they not see that the Bible forbids sorcery and communications with the dead and all witchcraft? How can they declare that it's OK, because the powers are used for 'good causes'? There is NO good witchcraft!

The third point is one that sent chills of horror to my bones; SCHOOLS are promoting these books all over the English-speaking world! They have teachers' material telling how to incorporate the Harry Potter sorcery school scenario into the classroom and have the children live out the scenes of the books.

Now I know that especially with the dawn of Disney, the occult has been pouring into the minds of children for decades, but I never remember teachers patterning their classes after it! I never had to sit through Sleeping Beauty Witchcraft classes or do class papers on 'How to design a Better Broomstick to ride on'! I kid you not! It's happening!

What about silly, foolish things? Foolish thinking always leads to evil doing. What is God's instruction on children and foolishness; is it to be encouraged? "Foolishness [is] bound in the heart of a child; [but] the rod of correction shall drive it far from him." Proverbs 22:15

There is no good lie and if it isn't pure truth, it's a lie! If it isn't 100% true, it's a frog or at very least, a pollywog!

Frogs of the 3 parts of Babylon

Frogs

"I saw three unclean spirits like frogs; come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty." Revelation 16:13, 14

Each section of this unholy alliance has its own filthy frogs, but in our society they meet, blend together and overflow into one another's territory; you can't tell one frog from another without a program! It doesn't really matter, they all have one aim, bind people together in unholy alliance against God and His people, and destroy as many as possible. Their influences range all the way from things that seem useful, to mass insanity.

There are some things they all have in common; they all tend to appeal more to the sensations, feelings and emotions and to resent and resist solid Bible truth. People in love with any of these frogs are aggressively antagonistic towards those who would show them God's clear statements on the matter in question. They often will accuse such a person of being extreme and harsh and making God's Word into a 'straightjacket'. They forget the words of our Saviour Himself about the 'straight and narrow way'.

I want you to consider one very important fact that is major in contributing to the terrible spiritual blindness in the world today. When a person enters into any strong emotional state, their higher reasoning powers are shut down. Emotion (sentimentalism) cannot occupy the driver's seat of the mind at the same time as 'Love of the Truth'. Emotion (sentimentalism) is willful and passionate, it seeks its own way and will tolerate no interference. It has self-centeredness as its be all and end all. If self is on the throne of the mind, Jesus and the Holy Spirit are outside, pleading to get in.

Once highly emotionalist happenings start up in a church, the study and seeking for truth goes out. Serious Bible studies, earnest repentance and heart searching are undesired. Discourses on preparedness and practical Godliness are despised. The tiny minority in a church that see the deception, cry out in alarm, then, have to leave. The light of that church goes out, extinguished by the flood of emotionalism. Now it only exists for more of the same and to corrupt others into its ways. Evangelism become a breeze as you only have to invite people to join in, and the mass hypnotism and demonic influences do the rest. There's no need for study, patient teaching and decision-making; no need for life changes. The frogs swarm out and spread, corrupting and destroying every mind they can touch. Only a mind kept by the Power of an indwelling Christ can discern and resist them.

The people thus exercised have opted to 'turn off their brains' as it were, in exchange for the pleasant or invigorating emotional experience. Like a highly intoxicating wine (which is what the Bible calls it) it is addicting, it becomes the one object of pursuit; nothing is satisfying to the person but more of the same in increasing doses.

Beast Frogs: The Marion Movement

The Marian phenomena, which consists of tens of thousands of sightings, or apparitions of Mary, the mother of Christ, is clearly known to Adventists to be a deception on a massive scale. With the knowledge of the Biblical teaching on the state of the dead we know that each and every sighting is a manifestation of the miracle working power of demons, since Mary, the mother of Jesus, is still resting in her grave awaiting the return of Jesus and the resurrection. Yet, the enormous numbers of sightings and the impact that the Marian movement is having, coupled with an understanding of last day events, as given in scripture and in the Spirit of Prophecy, compels us to examine this phenomena. This examination reveals astonishing events that lead us to believe that we may well be seeing the evidence of the devil's overmastering deception that is calculated to deceive the world.

Frogs

The Marian phenomena is seen in visions, appearances, weeping statues, bleeding icons, cures, signs in the heavens and messages received by the uneducated for popes and presidents. Sightings have occurred around the world. These are claimed, by believers, to fulfill the words of Joel, that God's spirit will be poured out upon all flesh.

This pope has referred to this century as the "Marian times." What does this mean? Ted Flynn, a Catholic author, explains that in Old Testament times God spoke through the prophets and in New Testament times Jesus spoke, but that now, God is speaking through "Mary." (See The Thunder of Justice, 171.) It is the devil's plan to put himself in the place of Jesus in the hearts of mankind. First he uses the guise of "Mary" and then he comes personating Christ.

Saying the rosary replaces praying to our Father in heaven. "Mary" is referred to as the Mediatrix; yet, we know that the Bible teaches us, "For there is one God, and one Mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." 1 Timothy 2:5. "Mary" claims to be the refuge and ark, advocate and intercessor, and the mother of the church. There are even claims that "Mary" will place her "motherly seal" on all those who have consecrated themselves to her immaculate heart.

All this has been predicted, has it not? "The time is at hand when Satan will work miracles to confirm minds in the belief that he is God. All the people of God are now to stand on the platform of truth as it has been given in the Third Angel's Message. All the pleasant pictures, all the miracles wrought, will be presented in order that, if possible, the very elect shall be deceived. The only hope for any one is to hold fast the evidences that have confirmed the truth in righteousness. Let these be proclaimed over and over again, until the close of this earth's history." Review and Herald, August 9, 1906

False Prophet Frogs

On Father's Day, 1995, a stunning revival broke out in the Brownsville Assembly of God Church in Pensacola, Florida, that has captured the attention of the world. Pastors and lay people alike are flocking to Pensacola. They are coming from all over the world, and from many different denominations. They have come to catch the spirit of this revival and take it back to their churches. Associated Press reporter David Briggs, who noted that this is "one of the most spectacular revivals in modern times," wrote that "hundreds of pastors visit each week in hopes of learning how they, too, might fill their churches. . . ." Nearly two million people have walked through the doors of the church since this revival broke out.

John Kilpatrick, pastor of Brownsville Assembly of God Church, declared, "There were signs and wonders that happened in the early church, and I want to tell you, friend, you better get used to signs and wonders taking place in the church again."

Frogs

Many churches are embracing this movement as being God's hand upon America. Pat Robertson's August-September 1996 Christian Broadcasting Network News Report lauded the revival, saying,

"Thousands of pastors have visited the church and report that their own churches are being affected by the Pensacola outpouring." The report continued by explaining how David Yonngi Cho, pastor of the world's largest church in Seoul, South Korea, received a vision concerning this revival in 1991. Cho said that in this vision, God revealed that He was going to bring revival to America and that it would begin in Pensacola. Cho said, "As I prayed I felt the Lord prompt me to get a map of America, . . . [and I] found myself pointing to the city of Pensacola." Cho said God told him, "I am going to send revival to Pensacola, and it will spread like a fire until all of America has been consumed by it." Mainline charismatic magazines like Charisma and even Christianity Today, a popular Evangelical magazine, have also praised this revival. Charisma referred to this revival as the "Pensacola Outpouring," and the March 3, 1996, issue of Christianity Today called this revival "the cutting edge of evangelistic outreach."

In the April 27, 1997, issue of the Washington Post, staff writer Peter Carlson gave an eyewitness account of one of the revival meetings:

"It begins with a drummer laying down a slow beat that goes on for several minutes, a steady, inescapable, portentous heartbeat. The guitarist and the organist join in, along with a choir of several dozen singers. . . . From the first note, the people are up out of the pews and on their feet, clapping in time or dancing with eyes closed, hands raised. In front of the first row, teenagers pogo up and down, a sort of Pentecostal mosh pit. If it weren't for the cross and the stained glass behind the altar, you might think you were at a rock-and-roll show."

It is extremely revealing that pastor John Kilpatrick admitted that there was pandemonium at his church in Brownsville. In fact, he actually condoned such activity. "God sent pandemonium in the church," he said. "I think it's time that we have grand pandemonium in the Baptists, in the Lutheran, the Episcopal, the Assembly of God [churches]. God send pandemonium!" It is interesting to note that the word pandemonium was coined by John Milton in 1667 in his epic Paradise Lost. Pandemonium was the name of the capital of Hell, the "high capital of Satan and his peers." The word literally means "place of all the demons." Today, the word is generally defined as "any place of wild disorder, noise or confusion."

One thing that surprised Kilpatrick was the large number of rebellious youth attending his church services. He described sexually active, drug addicted, wild, scantily clothed teenagers who would fall to the floor, shaking under the "power of the Holy Ghost." He said he became aware that an individual did not have to be saved in order to be a part of the "manifestations" of the Holy Spirit. He mentioned that many of the people in the audience who were experiencing the supernatural manifestations were not even Christians. Matt Costella, "The Brownsville Pensacola Outpouring: River of Revival or Pandemonium?" The Foundation Magazine, March-April, 1997. Dirk Anderson

Frogs

Charismatic Frogs

An extraordinary phenomenon has rippled across Argentina, Canada, Britain, the United States, South Africa, and India. From churches throughout the world come reports describing people entering into a state of mind similar to drunkenness. This altered state is often accompanied by shaking with laughter, crying, slipping into a trance, and falling to the floor. Is this the final movement of God? Is this the manifestation of the latter rain of the Holy Spirit? Or is this the manifestation of a great counterfeit revival?

This phenomenal end-time revival broke out in force in 1992 in the Toronto Airport Church, pastored by Rodney Howard-Browne. The supernatural manifestations witnessed there have become known worldwide as the "Toronto Blessing." The most notable manifestation involves the believer being overcome by fits of uncontrollable laughter. During these meetings some are heard roaring like lions, hooting like owls, or making other bizarre, animal-like noises. Amidst this noisy confusion, some are seen writhing on the ground and hissing like snakes, while others lay on the ground motionless, apparently lost to the surrounding pandemonium. Common manifestations include shaking, trancelike states, inner voices, visions, mental confusion, energy rushes, and out-of-body experiences. Some people leave the meetings in such a "drunken" state, without full use of their limbs, that they must be driven home by others. One eyewitness described her experience at the Toronto Vineyard as follows:

"The silly, funny 'laughter in the Spirit'. . . took the form of cackling and hooting. They called it 'holy laughter.' . . . Their movements were manic. It reminded me of a film I'd seen of autistic children. This impression was reinforced when I saw others, seated at the back of the room, banging their heads repetitively against the wall right behind them." Cheryl Thomson, "Toronto Blessing: A Memoir of 'The Vineyard' 1986-1994,"

One pastor visited the Toronto church and recounts his unexpected experience:

"One of the leaders then explained that he was going to call upon several people to share a testimony. . . . The first person . . . was apparently a Baptist preacher from England. He went to the front, began to speak, and after a few sentences he fell to the floor roaring and screeching. The leader reassured us that everything was all right. 'This roaring,' he explained, 'was caused by the Holy Spirit. . . . It is the roaring of the lion of Judah.' This was apparently a common occurrence in their meetings. The speaker concluded his message by telling us that the Holy Spirit was now moving in our midst and anyone who felt any shaking, trembling, or numbness was to understand that those feelings, or manifestations, were from the Holy Spirit and those who were experiencing those things should raise their hands and a member of their ministry would come and pray with them. Many people began experiencing this uncontrollable shaking of their bodies. Many fell on the floor roaring and screeching. Some were laughing hilariously."² Gordon Williams, "Vineyard Experience Written for the Body of Christ,"

The "Toronto Blessing" quickly spread across the world. One amazing facet of this movement is its ability to transcend denominational barriers. At the Holy Trinity Brompton Church in London, eyewitness Bill Randles describes how the movement has affected Anglican believers:

Frogs

"Though pathetically tiny flocks of Londoners attend many Anglican services, Holy Trinity Brompton has a 'standing room only' turnout of 1,500. Oblivious to the hot, airless sanctuary, the youthful throng buzzes with an anticipation more common at a rock concert or a rugby match. After the usual Scripture readings, prayers, and singing, the chairs are cleared away. Curate Nickey Gumbel prays that the Holy Spirit will come upon the congregation. Soon, a woman begins laughing. Others gradually join her with hearty belly laughs. A young worshiper falls to the floor, hands twitching. Another falls, then another and another. Within half an hour, there are bodies everywhere as supplicants sob, shake, roar like lions, and strangest of all, laugh uncontrollably." Bill Randles, "Holy Trinity Brompton of London and Other Churches: The Secular Press Drew My Attention To It," Dirk Anderson

Men's Frogs: Promise Keepers and ecumenism:

"The body of Christ comprises a wide diversity of members. There are many denominations; various styles of worship, and representatives from all walks of life." Seven Promises a Promise Keeper: 155.
"Why did Promise Keepers select 'racial and denominational barriers' when it focused on Christian unity? The primary reason is our sense that the Lord led us to embrace this truth. We must be obedient.

"Alone we can't change much; you can't, either. But together, with a million brothers-committed Promise Keepers—we can influence a nation. We can demonstrate that what history, the political process, and the legal system could not do, faith, obedience, repentance, and unity in Jesus can change." Ibid. 169.

"Okay, then what can we do? If we're convinced that God desires unity among all believers, each of us needs to reach out to brothers who are of different denominational and ethnic backgrounds." Ibid. 170.

In the opening chapter in a passage subtitled, Why Now? After citing the phenomenal growth of Promise Keeper meetings Randy Phillips answers his question;

"Why now? Why would men sacrifice the time and effort? Why were so many willing to make such profound commitments to change? What had shifted so much that now men were open to Jesus? After prayerful consideration, I could reach only one inescapable conclusion: We are on the threshold of a spiritual awakening." Ibid.. 3.

In describing the spiritual commitment necessary to fulfill this awakening this coming together "based on what they have in common," Ibid. 6, is set forth: "Redeeming worship centers on the Lord's Table. Whether your tradition celebrates it as Communion, Eucharist, the Mass, or the Lord's supper, we are called to this center piece of Christian worship." Ibid., 19. 24 Holy Laughter

"At a typical evening rally, during ministry time you can expect to see a large number in the crowd 'slain in the Spirit. People simply falling backwards. ... "Some people dance at this point during the worship. ... "Occasionally, one or two people will run during the service, these are sometimes called 'Jesus laps.'

"Weeping is also common. ... "One of the more controversial signs is Holy Laughter. People laugh during various parts of the worship, and this powerful experience of laughter can sweep the entire crowd, even during preaching time. Several times the preaching has been stopped or cut short because of the pervasiveness of the laughter. ...

Frogs

"Other manifestations have caused even greater bewilderment. For example, many people in worship engage in high-speed shaking of their hands, arms, or head. Others make various chopping and swinging motions. "Still others have roared like lions or barked like dogs. I have personally heard both in various meetings. I also heard one man making noises like a cow. Others have reported people oinking like pigs and crowing like roosters. ...

"Frequent examples are also cited of people drunk in the Spirit. At several Airport meetings in January 1995, people gathered to watch a man from Liverpool who was said to be 'drunk as a skunk.'" Holy Laughter and the Toronto Blessing, James A. Beverly. 68-69. The leader of this revival is Rodney Howard-Browne, called the Holy Ghost Bartender. Refer to Book.

Women's Frogs: Woman's Lib

Even if we refuse as Adventists to recognize this movement for what it is, the Lord will help others to and will have them cry out.

Ms. Betty Friedan, who has been quoted in Newsweek, 7/6/81 on page 50, and found in the book Christian Be Watchful, pp. 7-8, "denounced religion in the name of the 'scientific method.' . . The Humanist Manifesto. . . asserts the supremacy of human reason and science over religious faith and the authority of the Bible." "Here are some quotes . . . from Humanist Manifesto II. . . ' . . . Humanists still believe that traditional theism. . . is an unproved and outmoded faith.

Salvationism. . . still appears as harmful, diverting people with false hopes of heaven hereafter. Reasonable minds look to other means for survival' (from the preface, p. 13). 'We find insufficient evidence for belief in the existence of a supernatural. . . . No deity will save us; we must save ourselves' (p. 16)."

The book, Sexual Politics, written by Kate Millett was published in 1970. (Time, 8/31/70, p. 19).

Speaking of her book the Reader's Digest had this to say: "Kate Millett's Sexual Politics, a powerful and coherent attack on the family." (The Reader's Digest, January, 1973, p. 109, in the article "The War On The American Family.").

One who chooses to take a look through Ms. Millett's Sexual Politics will quickly find her anti-Christian views. On page 62 she says "A sexual revolution would require, perhaps first of all, an end of traditional sexual inhibitions and taboos, particularly those that most threaten patriarchal monogamous marriage: homosexuality, illegitimacy, adolescent pre- and extra-marital sexuality. . . ."Primarily, however, a sexual evolution would bring the institution of patriarchy [society in which males are dominate] to an end, abolishing both the ideology of male supremacy and the traditional socialization by which it is upheld in matters of status, role, and temperament. . . .

"The abolition of sex role and the complete economic independence of women would undermine both its (the patriarchal proprietary family) authority and its financial structure. An important corollary would be the end of the present chattel status and denial of rights to minors. The collective professionalization (and consequent improvement) of the care of the young, also involved, would further undermine family structure while contributing to the freedom of women. Marriage might generally be replaced by voluntary association, if such is desired." (Sexual Politics, p.62).

Frogs

It was further noted in Time magazine in 1970 that the "Women's Liberation movement . . . seek[s] nationwide abortion reform — ideally, free abortions on demand. They desire round-the-clock, state-supported child-care centers. . . .

"In her book, Millett . . . argues that it [patriarchy] provides our 'fundamental concept of power.' Women are helpless, in other words, because men control the basic mechanisms of society. Her solution is drastic: demolish the patriarchal system. . . 'There is no way out but to rebel'. . . Her target is the patriarchy. . . .

"The family, Millett says, is patriarchy's chief institution and cell for sexist brainwashing. . . Male power is enforced by the man's position as head of the household. . . Within the family, gender roles are ideologically reinforced. Girls, for instance, are taught to cook and sew passively, in imitation of their mothers; boys are encouraged to be aggressive in imitation of their fathers. Biologically, she argues, there is little real difference between the sexes, beyond the specific genital characteristics. . .

Certainly we can not only see the results of all this "wonderful" insight in today's modern world, but we can "feel" its grip in the church. The enemy of all souls is surely behind this movement and is running havoc with the family unit in the church, where the divorce rate is virtually the same as in the world.

"Women's libber" Gloria Steinem, one of the co-founders of Ms. magazine, was quoted in Time magazine: ...Lesbians or homosexuals will no longer be denied legally binding marriages, complete with mutual-support agreements and inheritance rights. . . ."

RELIGION. Protestant women are already becoming ordained ministers. . . . In the future, the church will become an area of equal participation by women. . . Full participation of women in ecclesiastical life might involve certain changes in theology, such as, for instance, a radical redefinition of sin. (Gloria Steinem, Time, 8/31/70, pp. 22,25).

THERE is far more to the "Women's Rights Movement" than one may at first think. Not only do these people want a complete change in government, but they would like to totally abolish true Christianity and do away with God. Gloria Steinem is anything but shy about her intentions:

"Overthrowing capitalism is too small for us. We must overthrow the whole [curse word] patriarchy! For the sake of those who wish to live in equal partnership, we have to abolish and reform the institution of marriage. . . . By the year 2000 we will, I hope, raise our children to believe in human potential, NOT GOD. . . . We must understand that what we are attempting is a revolution, not a public relations movement." Terry Ross

Frogs

New Age Frogs

In order to understand the recent events occurring in the religious world, one must understand the eastern occult practice of Kundalini. The practice of Kundalini originated in Asia and dates back at least one thousand years. It seeks to awaken the "spiritual power" within. There are seven Chakras or spots in the human body which are involved in awakening the Kundalini power. The fifth Chakra is the Throat Chakra and has been associated with the laughing phenomena among practitioners of Kundalini.

Yan Xin, a Chinese Qigong master known to most of the over one billion people in China, gave a talk in San Francisco in 1991. Seventeen hundred devotees, most of them Chinese, showed up at the Masonic auditorium to listen to Yan. The May 16, 1991, San Francisco Chronicle reported that "minutes into his talk, several began experiencing what Yan Xin calls spontaneous movements." The reporter said that "before long, the scene resembled a Pentecostal prayer meeting with many people waving their arms and making unintelligible sounds." Yan told his audience, "Those who are sensitive might start having some strong physical sensations--or start laughing or crying. Don't worry. This is quite normal." The article said that "since 1985, when a Qigong revival started sweeping China, 50 to 60 million Chinese have gone to see Yan."

Kundalini energy is typically described as a powerful energy source lying dormant in the form of a coiled serpent at the base of the human spine. When freed it reputedly has the capacity to effect great physical healings. Christina and Stanislov Grof, New Age authors, describe how the awakening of Kundalini energy can be triggered by an advanced spiritual teacher or guru. The Grofs state that "individuals involved in this process might find it difficult to control their behavior; during power rushes of Kundalini energy, they often emit various involuntary sounds, and their bodies move in strange and unexpected patterns. Among the most common manifestations . . . are unmotivated and unnatural laughter or crying, talking in tongues . . . and imitating a variety of animal sounds and movements."⁹

Bwagwham Shree Rajneesh, the former Oregon occult guru, writes of an experience when he told one of his followers, "just be joyful. . . . God is not serious . . . this world cannot fit with a theological god. . . . So let this be your constant reminder--that you have to dance your way to God, to laugh your way to God." Often referred to as being "drunk on the divine," Rajneesh encouraged his followers to come and drink from him. His spiritual wine was often passed along with a single touch to the head. Many of his Sannyasins would fall to the floor in ecstasy after their encounters with Rajneesh. It is interesting to note that Rodney Howard-Browne often speaks of the "new wine" and the "wine that is divine."

Not only do occult manifestations mimic the manifestations of the so-called revivals, but even the method of imparting them is copied. Rodney Howard-Browne's practice of touching the foreheads of his followers to impart power to them can find its equivalent in the occult world. Swami Bab Muktananda would transfer what was called guru's grace to his followers through Shaktipat (physical touch). This grace triggered the gradual awakening of the Kundalini which in turn produced various physical and emotional manifestations. Manifestations included uncontrollable laughing, roaring, barking, hissing, crying, shaking, and so forth. Some devotees became mute or unconscious.

Frogs

The parallels between spiritualism and the so-called revivals are undeniable. The use of mantras (a point-of-focus word used in yoga while meditating) was witnessed during one of Rodney Howard-Browne's services on the Trinity Broadcasting Network before a potential audience of 20,000,000 viewers. The camera showed one gentleman still standing in the midst of a group of about 20 people prostrated on the floor. The gentleman was mildly laughing when Browne approached him. After a few minutes of priming the man by saying the words "HA-HA, bubble" to him, Browne said, "Let's go back to the prayer mode: HA-HA." Browne's laughter was not at all natural. The man repeated the words. After about five minutes, the man immediately stopped laughing and he went down with a look of shock on his face. A power had "slain him in the spirit."

Why did Browne prime the man with "HA-HAs"? It is intriguing that Browne encouraged the man to repeat the words "HA-HA," which is exactly how the various mantras are given to the followers of New Age gurus. Using a mantra helps to focus the mind on making contact with another power. Notice the significance of "HA":

"The fifth Chakra [Visuddha in Kundalini Yoga] is located in the throat. It is the center for creativity and self-expression. The throat center influences the thyroid gland which affects the balance of the entire nervous system, metabolism, muscular control, and body heat production. This center is called the gateway to liberation because it leads beyond the physical/emotional planes and into astral space. . . . The symbolic form is chalice, . . . and its sound vibration is the joyous delight expressed in the act of creation HA."¹³

"HA" is the sound vibration of the fifth Chakra that is the expression of joyous delight. Both Kundalini's "HA" and Browne's "HA" connect to the same power. (Could it be more than coincidence that the first god in the Babylonian trinity is named Jah-Bel-On? "Ha" and "Jah" are used interchangeably in the Chaldean language.) Bwagwham Shree Rajneesh, Dance Your Way To God, 229. Dirk Anderson

Healing Frogs

This is a very deceptive swarm of frogs. So many techniques of healing seem 'Natural' and when you experience them - you 'feel better'. It takes a few steps back from 'Alternative Medicine' and some deep prayer and heart searching to finally see the deception in most of this stuff.

There are natural healing techniques approved of God- we were given herbs, water treatments, massage and the '8 Laws'.

But 'energy theory' techniques are subtle and full of frogs. They have swarmed over the land- into main-line medicine and into the practices of SDAs who have the SOP and ought to know better. But the old bugbear is- 'well it works so it must be OK' this is just another form of "If it feels good, do it!" Remember, God deals in truth but the Devil's stock and trade is feelings.

Faith Healing is also part of the Charismatic movement and Devil possessed 'ministers' are practicing in the name of Christianity what is really the realm of witchcraft.

Frogs

Calf Worship Frogs

As we near the close of time, there will be greater and still greater external parade of heathen power; heathen deities will manifest their signal power, and will exhibit themselves before the cities of the world, and this delineation has already begun to be fulfilled. By a variety of images the Lord Jesus represented to John the wicked character and seductive influence of those who have been distinguished for their persecution of God's people. All need wisdom carefully to search out the mystery of iniquity that figures so largely in the winding up of this earth's history. God's presentation of the detestable works of the inhabitants of the ruling powers of the world who bind themselves into secret societies and confederacies, not honoring the law of God, should enable the people who have the light of truth to keep clear of all these evils. More and more will all false religionists of the world manifest their evil doings; for there are but two parties, those who keep the commandments of God and those who war against God's holy law.--Ms 139, 1903, pp. 5, 6. ("The Message in Revelation," October 23, 1903.)

Weeping and bleeding images and Idols, heathen Idols drinking milk, it is all with us today but Who would have dreamed of people in this so called enlightened age- worshipping calves again??

On August 20, 1994. "Miracle." the white buffalo was born in Janesville, Wisconsin, There has only been a couple white buffalo known to be born this century but both died at birth or shortly thereafter, both were male. The last reported female white buffalo was born 600 years ago and died in about 20 hours.

19 generations ago, during a time of famine, two Indian braves were outside the camp when they met a beautiful maiden carrying a bundle. (Virtually every Indian tribe has this legend, and they all have similar, though not identical details.) As the two braves approached the maiden one of the braves had lustful thoughts about the maiden, and she and he were covered by a cloud that disappeared shortly after leaving the foolish brave as a pile of worms and bones. (When you read the different accounts of these two braves. they seem to be a symbol of the wise and foolish virgins? Does one accept the message of the return as sacred or unholy?)

The second brave spoke with the maiden, who asked to be taken into the camp to speak with the Chief. Her voice was as music. In the teepee of the chief she provided the chief with the bundle, "the peace pipe." which was inside the bundle, and a prophecy. As she set forth the purpose of the peace pipe she described it as the way in which the Indians should pray, for in the smoke their prayers would ascend. (Counterfeit to the incense, and the prayers of the saints?) She described the different components of the pipe in clearly new age terms; referring to the red earthen bowl of the pipe as symbolic of "Mother and Grandmother Earth, which is Sacred;" the buffalo carving on the bowl was symbolic of all "the four-leggeds" on mother earth; the wooden stem is symbolic of plants on mother earth; the twelve feathers symbolized "the wingeds" of the earth; and she stated "all these peoples (four leggeds and wingeds) are joined to you who smoke the pipe. All send their voice to Wanka Tanka, the Great Spirit. When you pray with this pipe you pray for everything."

She left a prophecy which said at the end of time there would be five years of increasing disasters and crisis' which would be followed by an era of peace. She said she would return to mark the beginning of this five years of troubles. During this five years the Indians were to seek to come into harmony and unity with the other religions of the world in spite of the great crisis. (In this sense the peace pipe. is more accurately the ecumenical pipe.) After leaving the gifts and the prophecy she left the tribe, and as she turned to say farewell she changed into a white buffalo. She then walked 200 yards and rolled over and changed into a black buffalo, then walked 200 yards and rolled over and changed into a red buffalo. then walked 200 yards and rolled over and changed into a yellow buffalo. (These colors symbolize the different tribes of mankind.) The prophecy also stated that the white female buffalo would be born to white people in the center of the United States, and that the father of the white buffalo calf would have to give his life for the calf.

Frogs

When Miracle was born to the Heider family in 1994, they knew nothing of these legends and were simply raising buffalo for sale as meat. As soon as she was born, the word got out and Indians from around North America began pilgrimages to the Heiders farm to say prayers and leave offerings attached to the fence around Miracles coral. The pilgrimages continue to this day bringing people from all faiths from the entire globe!

Six days after the birth of Miracle, a medicine man (Floyd Hand) called the Heiders and told them that the legend stated that the father of Miracle must give his life for the calf, and also that he had a dream which identified that the bull would soon die, and in the dream he saw a black object in the bull abdomen. The medicine man counseled that if they wanted to get an analysis of the seaman and blood, they should do it immediately for he would soon die. (They wanted the analysis to determine the genetics involved in the production of a white calf.) The Heiders knew nothing at this time of the legend and laughed off the weird telephone call, from a weird medicine man. Four days later the bull fell over dead. When an autopsy was performed they found the bull had suffered internal bleeding which formed a large blood clot in his abdomen. The blood clot had turned black.

The Heiders have cooperated with the religious and sacred desires of the Indians as this saga has unfolded, which in itself is a miracle when we consider it was to be born to a white person. How easy would it be to predict a white person 19 generations ago, and how easy would it be to find a white person raising buffaloes. And how easy would it be to have those white people be willing to turn their farm over to the foreign religious rites of the Indians. Many white people would certainly not cooperate. Many would no doubt sell the buffalo, for it could be sold for millions to the Indians or others. (They have had offers in the million dollar price range.) What if it had been born to white racists? What if it was born to strong Bible believers? Would they support and sustain the new age worship which has taken place in connection with the white buffalo? Janesville, Wisconsin qualifies as the center of the United States.

Since its birth the pilgrimages continue and the Indians still appear on a regular basis to perform sacred rites in connection with the buffalo, but not only Indians but New Agers, and Catholics also. This year at a service called the Unity gathering (Ecumenical?) over 650 religious leaders from around the globe attended the three-day worship service. These religious leaders included the Dalai Lama, the symbolic king of world spiritualism!

The birth of Miracle occurred around the time period of the earthquakes in California and Japan, and the prophecy stated the catastrophes and crisis would only accelerated until the era of peace. This is the identical message another unholy spiritual lady, is bringing through the apparitions of Mary.

According to the prophecy when the white buffalo was born she would go through the same color changes as did the white buffalo prophetess, which brought the peace pipe and message. Miracle changed colors to black in January of 1995, then red in June of 1995, then yellow in November of 1995. The prophecy said she would eventually turn back to white. When I viewed her in May of 1996 her rump was beginning to change back to white. (Buffaloes do not change colors!) All these changes have been photographically documented. At the end of the five years of crisis Miracle will supposedly, turn back into the maiden and usher in the era of peace. With her birth in 1994 five years of disasters brings us to 1999; just in time to begin the so-called Age of Aquarius!

Frogs

The (ecumenical) peace pipe the white buffalo maiden brought has been handed down for 19 generations and is perhaps the most sacred idol to the American Indian. It is this legend that all Indians derive their understanding of the peace pipe from. The bundle the maiden brought was stolen from the Indians in the massacre of Wounded Knee, yet in the recent past a medicine man found out the bundle had been placed on auction, in South Carolina, and the medicine man went to the auction and retrieved this sacred idol for the Indian nation.

In 1995 an Indian holy man appeared at the Heider's farm and sat down beneath a oak tree for three days waiting for another Indian holy 'man to arrive which possessed the sacred peace pipe. The first holy man, (Floyd Hand) wanted to assess if the second holy man. (Arvol Looking Horse) was spiritually mature enough to receive and protect the sacred bundle and thus reunite it with the sacred peace pipe which he possessed. Their association has continued and soon it is expected that Floyd Hand will give the sacred bundle to Arvol, thus bringing these two premier new age idols of the American Indians, and spiritualists of the entire world, back together. Not only is the prophecy being fulfilled perfectly, but its ecumenical implications are being marked by the historic saga of the peace pipe and sacred bundle. J. Pippenger.

Note: the Internet is carrying a slightly different story of this event but New Age stories change with the teller; sadly, this doesn't seem to dampen the ardor of those who believe them. And now apparently there are two calves for 'Miracle Moon' gave birth in June 2000 to another white female, 'Brilliant Rainbow'.

SDA Frogs??

What is the purpose of the frogs? "To gather together" to battle against the Lord. Ecumenism is the aim of the Dragon; Tyrannical Control is the aim of the Papacy Beast- Making rules 'laws' to force others to do what we know they ought to do- is the aim of the 'False Prophet'.

So what are we doing messing with any of that???

Associate yourselves, O ye people, and ye shall be broken in pieces; and give ear, all ye of far countries: gird yourselves, and ye shall be broken in pieces; gird yourselves, and ye shall be broken in pieces. Take counsel together, and it shall come to nought; speak the word, and it shall not stand: for God [is] with us. Say ye not, A confederacy, to all [them to] whom this people shall say, A confederacy; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid. Sanctify the LORD of hosts himself; and [let] him [be] your fear, and [let] him [be] your dread. Isaiah 8:9-13

"Before the final visitation of God's judgments upon the earth there will be among the people of the Lord such a revival of primitive godliness as has not been witnessed since apostolic times. The Spirit and power of God will be poured out upon His children. At that time many will separate themselves from those churches in which the love of this world has supplanted love for God and His Word. Many, both of ministers and people, will gladly accept those great truths which God has caused to be proclaimed at this time to prepare a people for the Lord's second coming. The enemy of souls desires to hinder this work; and before the time for such a movement shall come, he will endeavor to prevent it by introducing a counterfeit. In those churches which he can bring under his deceptive power he will make it appear that God's special blessing is poured out; there will be manifest what is thought to be great religious interest. Multitudes will exult that God is working marvelously for them, when the work is that of another spirit. Under a religious guise, Satan will seek to extend his influence over the Christian world." The' Great Controversy, 464.

Frogs

Ancient Frogs: What has Been, Will Be.

It Is Party Time!

The banquet hall was packed. The hall reverberated with the tunes of the best musicians in Babylon. The wine was flowing. There was laughter everywhere. It was the best of times. King Belshazzar knew there was a line that he should not cross. But it was party time! It was not a time to be concerned about lines. It was a time to be happy! It was celebration time!

After all, who could prevent him, the leader of the Lion of the earth's nations, from crossing the line? Brazenly, he called for the holy utensils of the temple of God. In bold defiance Belshazzar dared to profane the holy with his unholiness. In drunken glee he leaped across the unseen line. Suddenly the pandemonium was silenced by the appearance of the bloodless hand of God. Belshazzar's knees began to knock, but it was not from the power of Kundalini! It was from raw fear of God. It was a fear that reached down into his soul. It was a fear arising from a sudden realization of impending doom. It was a fear that not only had his present life been lost, but that his eternal doom had been sealed. It was Babylon's last night!

On Babylon's last night, the Lord's words, recorded by Jeremiah, were dramatically fulfilled:

"Her people all roar like young lions, they growl like lion cubs. But while they are aroused, I will set out a feast for them and make them drunk, so that they shout with laughter. . . . Come out of her, my people! Run for your lives! . . . The Lord will destroy Babylon; He will silence her noisy din." Jeremiah 51:38-39, 45, 55. NIV.

The churches are packed. The hypnotic music reverberates through the sanctuaries. The "new wine" is flowing and people are drunk with intoxicating spirits. There is laughter everywhere. It is the best of times. The people know that God has a line called His Ten Commandments. But it is party time! It is not a time to be concerned about laws. It is a time to celebrate! So they are roaring like lions, partying in pandemonium, laughing in oblivion as they teeter along on the brink of eternity. The line is about to be crossed. Babylon is about to bring out God's holy law from His temple and profane the Sabbath commandment. Who can stop Babylon? Who can keep her from desecrating the Sabbath? The sun has set on Babylon. Night has fallen. The hands of the clock are fast approaching midnight. Get ready! It is later than you think. Dirk Anderson.